NOTICE OF PREPARATION

OF THE

1987 BIENNIAL REPORT

(Docket No. 87-BR)

The California Energy Commission is preparing its 1987 Biennial Report. The Biennial Report is the state's principal energy policy and planning document. With the Governor's concurrence, it forms the basis for determining how the Legislature, government agencies, utilities, businesses, and the public can meet California's future energy needs.

The analytical basis for the Biennial Report rests on four other Commission documents: the Conservation Report, Electricity Report, Biennial Fuels Report, and Energy Development Report. Each of these has already completed an extensive review process. Based on the findings of these reports, the Biennial Report recommends certain actions be undertaken to resolve energy issues and to ensure that future stable and reliable energy supplies are available for California.

A draft report will be available in early March, with hearings held in late March. If you would like to receive notice regarding the availability of the report and the specific dates and locations of the hearings, please complete and return the attached form.

Members of the public who wish further information about participating in the Biennial Report hearing process and about the report should contact the Commission's Public Adviser, Christopher Heard at (916) 324-3009 or toll free in California at 800-822-6228. Questions about the content of this report should be addressed to Greg Newhouse, Project Manager, at (916) 324-3305.
